Other Fiscal Impact – To the extent a vote to recall is undertaken to remove a local board of education member from the respective board, the mandatory increase in local expenditures is reasonably estimated to exceed $10,000.***

Assumptions for the bill as amended:

- Any local government holding a special election would incur one-time expenditures; however, the cost will vary based on the population of the local government holding the special election.

SB 185 - HB 983

- Based on information provided by the State Division of Elections, a special election costs between $10,207 for a small county such as Lake County and $597,022 for Shelby County.
- Based on information provided by the State Division of Elections, a special election costs a municipality between $8,800 (the city of Luttrell with a population of 1,080) and $715,000 (the city of Memphis with a population of 646,900).
- The number of local governments that will be required to hold a special election is unknown; however, if a local government holds a special election it will result in a mandatory increase in local expenditures estimated to exceed $10,000.

*Article II, Section 24 of the Tennessee Constitution provides that: no law of general application shall impose increased expenditure requirements on cities or counties unless the General Assembly shall provide that the state share in the cost.
